About

Beebe currently works as a creative consultant and stylist. He previously worked as Vice President Creative Director at Diamond Group and is also a consultant and YouTube presenter for WindowsWear, the leading global digital platform celebrating window design. His career spans 4 decades at the forefront of the fashion industry. Prior to Diamond, Beebe was creative director for Fairchild Media's flagship titles DNR and Menswear magazine, leading styling and overall creative strategy. He's also been creative director of leading menswear brand Paul Stuart, creative consultant at Liberty of London and held creative direction roles in VM and windows for Henri Bendel, Neiman Marcus (Nationwide stores US) and Bergdorf Goodman. More recently Beebe, in partnership with the Smithsonian Institute, has overseen the digitization of iconic window designer Gene Moore's archive. Beebe is Moore's protegee. Beebe is consulting on the development of an exhibition of Moore's most famous work.

Selection a bit more unique. Something from our distinctive array of hats, gloves, scarves and other path-less-taken accoutrements. Something that will stand out, and stand alone much like this celebrated customer. Author, raconteur and provocateur, he is indeed a man of many hats. Or, at least the ones he doesn't bestow as gifts.
